The 2013 International Conference on Advanced ICT(Information and Communication Technology) for Education (ICAICTE2013), which will be held on September 20-22, 2013 in Hainan, China. Hainan is an island in the South of China. Hainan is China's version of Hawaii and it is becoming more popular with international tourists as well. Residents from many countries, including the US and Canada, can visit the island without a visa.

The ICAICTE2013 focuses on using ICT in education which includes practice, technology and theory. Since ancient times, research in education has never been discontinued. In particular, with the emergence of ICT which evolve very quickly, so has the changes in the research of education (e.g. theory and practice which go with these evolving technologies).

The use of ICT in education is becoming ever more important. ICT is the medium of young people and plays a pivotal role in their lives. ICT can significantly reinforce and deepen knowledge and understanding. Nowadays, many researchers focus on promoting, coordinating and facilitating the use of information and communication technology (ICT) to enhance teaching and student learning.

The aim of this conference is to provide a worldwide forum, where the international participants can share their research knowledge and ideas on the recent and latest research on AICTE and map out the directions for future researchers and collaborations. Researchers and graduate students are welcomed to participate in the conference to exchange research findings in the frontier areas of Computers in Education.

The ICAICTE 2013 conference proceeding will proudly published by ATLANTIS PRESS, which will be submitted for indexing to Thomson ISI (ISTP, CPCI, Web of Science), Scopus (by Elsevier) and EI/Compendex. All the prospective papers must be submitted online at the conference website https://www.easychair.org/account/signin.cgi?conf=icaicte2013.
